Dear Mr. Friedman:

Center ISD recently purchased the Motivational Interviewing program from you. After receiving this and introducing it into our curriculum, we have found it to be invaluable in promoting a safer school.

Bullying, violence and gang participation is a growing concern for everyone in the school system. Your materials enhance the awareness of this real-life problem.

The students have responded extremely well to this program and have been very comfortable about expressing their feelings and opinions since we introduced this program into our curriculum. Our At-Risk Counselor has already had positive results and is very excited about using this excellent program.

This is a wonderful program from the Department of Justice that I would highly recommend for any school in dealing with some of the critical issues that are facing our youth today. I just cannot say enough good things about this program as it has prompted some very positive interaction with our students. We are excited about our results and look forward to many more positive results in the future.

Sincerely,

Angela Lawson
